E.C.O. LEATHER

The regenerated leather fibre in rolls with an eco-sustainable finishing by Italian Converter®

E.C.O. LEATHER is our biobased coated fabric made by recovering pre-consumer waste, then recompacting it to give it new life. It is made even more sustainable by the finish that covers it: a revolutionary bio-based polymer from renewable sources. This product, designed and manufactured in-house by specialised R&D department of Italian Converter®, has been tested for its composition. The Beta Analytic institute has verified that 64% of its composition is made up of organic matter of vegetable origin: it is polyurethane derived from natural sources. This confirms Italian Converter® commitment to choose innovative, sustainable raw materials that fully respect the environment. The regeneration process transforms what was once a production waste into a new source of opportunity to meet current market demands. E.C.O. LEATHER combines technological innovation, beauty and comfort. This project is a further technological achievement that satisfies the customers' needs including the most careful one.
