

NILO- THE STORY- KI-PON SLIM

Homage to the great African river and to the heroic quest for its sources.

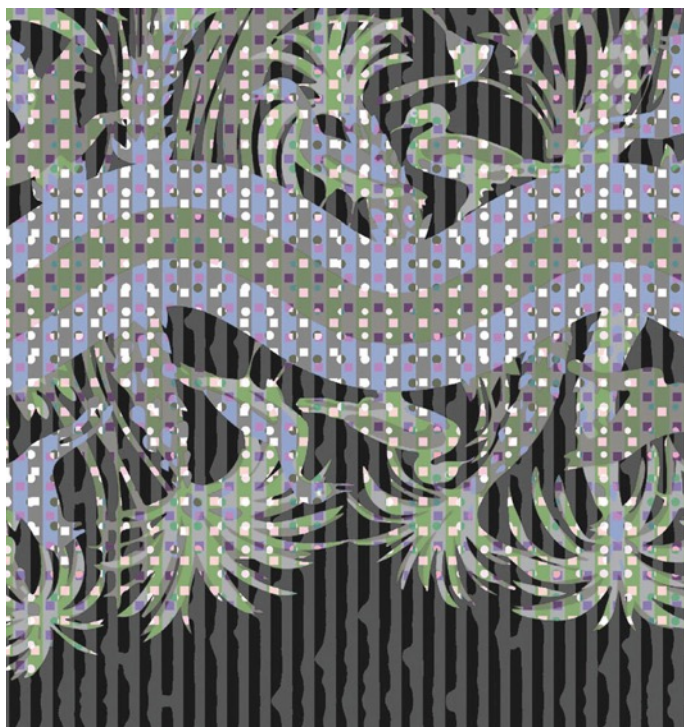

It's 1871. Just imagine two Englishmen in the unexplored, mysterious heart of Africa. One has gone there in order to find the other. The two explorers finally meet in a place where they are the first white men ever seen there.

“ Dr. Livingston, I suppose! “ it is what, allegedly, Stanley said at their encounter.

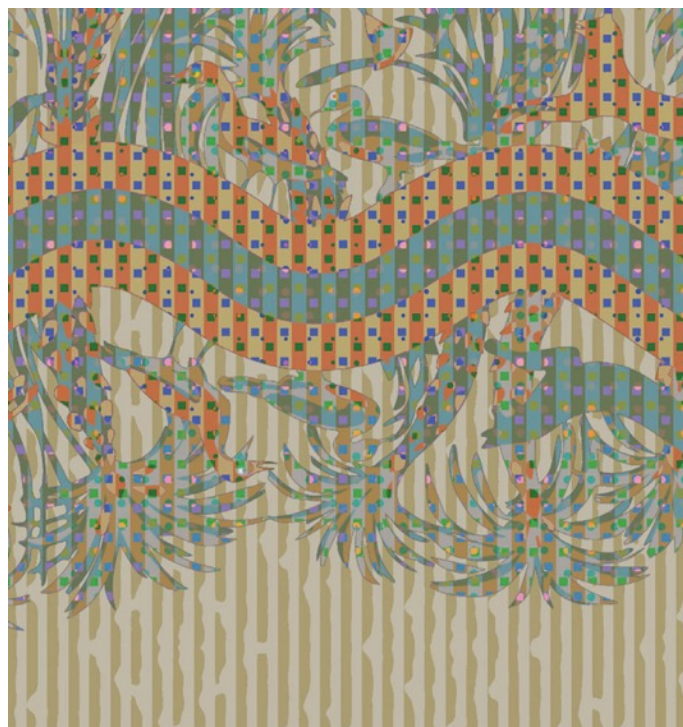

The Moon Mountains, the vast lakes Victoria and Tanganica, the waterfall and the proud river, mother and father of life and ancient civilizations...it's exciting to think about the emotions and ambitions experienced by these men travelling through unknown territories.

KI-PON as well, in its own way, wants to explore the course of the Nile, rich in vegetation and exotic animals, which flows embracing through arid and deserts lands.

The design is available in four color variations.
