CATHARSIS COLLECTION
MADE IN ITALY SCULPTURAL HOME DECOR

DESTRUCTION, TRANSFORMATION, AND REBIRTH

Like a flame, it rises, melts the material, transforms into lava, and falls to the ground, solidifying its roots.

Destruction, transformation, and rebirth are the three powerful themes that inspire the new collection of vases, bowls, and bookends made from glass and stone. The Catharsis collection embodies an emotional journey that reflects the complexity of our time. The flowing lines of the stone made entirely by hand with ancient artisan techniques and the broken lines of the fragmented glass softened by the workmanship flame evoke a sense of movement and positive transformation.

Coki Barbieri realized this collection with high sustainability standard and natural materials, with the pieces formed through intersecting elements with no permanent joints, without using cement, resins, animal derivatives, industrial preservatives or any substance based on petroleum products.

The colors used in all our productions are 100% natural and derive exclusively from earth extracted from the Italian subsoil. The shades and gradations of color are obtained through skillful mixing, mathematically elaborated with chemical laboratory instruments.

ONE-OF-A-KIND PIECES

Individually crafted with unique shapes, color variations, and manifold glass flame work.

All stone elements are sculpted by Coki Barbieri and custom-made to fit the handcrafted glass components, ensuring a perfect fit.

The clarity of the borosilicate glass is combined with the opacity of the stone, which always has unique details, traces, holes, as it is made following the techniques of the ancient Romans, sustainably reusing Tuscan and Venetian rocks, without glues and cements.

The products in the Catharsis line can function both as practical objects and as standalone sculptures, serving as the aesthetic centerpiece in refined or minimalist interiors.

- Any differences in the shape of the stone and glass are considered normal.
- Due to the absorption of the natural treatment given to the surface, the stone will become slightly lighter and brighter over time, maintaining its basic color.
- Each piece is traceable by a serial code and accompanied by a written guarantee signed by Coki Barbieri.
