The Forni Magliano company was born from an ancient tradition that has been handed down for two generations in the construction, maintenance, sale and rental of wood and/or gas ovens and barbecues and/or rotisseries also with construction on site , on the national territory and international which, while maintaining the same originality of the past with the construction still performed entirely by hand, has managed to innovate its products with new technologies in compliance with the regulations.

Today also present in world events such as the Milan EXPO where healthy nutrition, even with a well-cooked pizza, acts as the official "slogan" for safeguarding. The experience and professionalism acquired over the years have enabled the achievement of important objectives such as being the official supplier of the Napoli Pizza Village and participating in various television events.

The last important milestone achieved by the company regards the GUINNESS of records for the realization and cooking of the longest pizza in the world ; for the event held in Naples, 5 wood-burning ovens were built which allowed 1853.88m of pizza to be cooked, officially entering the Guinness book thanks to the Napoli Pizza Village.

Furthermore, the great pride of the company is the homage made to Pope Benedict XVI of a wood-burning oven and the participation in events in the Vatican gardens in the company of Pope Francis. Hence the slogan "...a blessing for your table...".
