Materials and references to nature

To suspend time on surfaces, to capture the vibrancy of colors at their peak of beauty, to emulate the effects that atmospheric agents have on a common material in various natural environments: this is the great ambition of Verderaame.

Origin and inspiration

Combining art, creativity, and excellence, the Verderaame tone highlights the connection between nature and the world of design. This surface is offered to interior designers seeking innovative solutions for the boldest projects, or to those who wish to give an original touch to their home.

The color of aged copper, which through oxidation takes on this new material appearance, replicates a bright and vibrant shade of green/blue. It is available in the Perfetto model or with the embossed effect of the Toscana. Ideal for both home interiors and contract spaces.
