Canneta Brunello di Montalcino 2017

Score: 91 Points

19 Nov, 2021 – A pleasant mix of plummy and berry fruit, together with easy mineral, almost nutty notes. Medium-to full-bodied with tightly woven tannins that pull a little on the finish for now. Give it a couple of years to unravel. Best from 2024

Canneta Brunello di Montalcino 2016

Score: 92 Points

3 Apr, 2021 – Full-bodied and full-flavored Brunello with black-plum, black-fruit and some mild fresh-licorice character. Silky palate and a fresh finish.

This is well-poised and attractive now, but give it a little more time. Best from 2022.

Canneta Brunello di Montalcino Riserva 2013

Score: 93 Points

9 Jan, 2019 – This shows some ripe red-cherry and plum aromas with a thread of warm terracotta, leading to a mid-weight palate that carries a bright, fleshy berry core. Fine and tight, plummy finish. Drink or hold.

Canneta 2007 Brunello di Montalcino

This Brunello presents a classic, textbook bouquet with red fruit, spice, cola and pressed flowers but with a subdued, mild delivery.

The wine shows aromatic intensity but not in an exaggerated fashion.

The tannins are dry, firm and dusty and there's a wood-driven finish of spice and rolled pipe tobacco.

Canneta 2006 Riserva Brunello di Montalcino

Well etched, defined and crisp, this is a strong, determined wine with loads of power, acidity and firmness.

The wine shows all the criteria for a long cellar life, softening slowly as the wine evolves.

Age 10–20 more years.

Brunello di Montalcino 2015, the great vintage

- By Raffaele Vecchione

Podere Canneta	Brunello di Montalcino	2015	94	Rosso
-----------------------	-------------------------------	-------------	-----------	--------------

Ripe on the nose with notes of wild strawberries, red plums, sour yogurt and green tea leaf. Subtle to give sensory richness the gentle note of tangerine peel, that dominates the background. Medium-full body, tannins of important quality, perfectly ripe and a vertical finish with a sharp nature. Already delicious, it will be even better by 2021

Toscana	I Mori	Chianti Riserva	2016	90	Rosso

Structured and complex on the nose with a good presence of balsamic notes that confirm the cold vintage in Chianti. Hints of mint, eucalyptus and black currants in the main aroma of this young wine. Full body, rigid tannins and a radiant finish. Drink now or get old.

Toscana	I Mori	Chianti	2018	88	Rosso

The slight initial reduction leaves space for notes of raspberries, currants and lemon peel. Medium body, slightly green tannins and a clear and clean finish. Few devices to improve here. Drink now.

Decanter Magazine, October 2017

Oak-derived, smoky aromas paired with hints of prune and chocolate, unfolding onto a full and structured palate with firm and still rather unyielding tannins framing herbal, sweet cherry fruit.

Lovely Brunello and archetypal in all its parameters, from colour to aromas to flavours.

A rich red, this starts out open and accessible, turning denser and taut as it develops.

The finish is very tight and firm, yet overall this is well balanced and the black cherry, raspberry and black tea notes remain intense and focused.

Best from 2015 through 2030.
