I History and experience

Experts in transforming rooms into comfortable accommodations since 1976.

Founded in 1976, Ellevi got its start making hand-crafted furniture. The company evolved over the years, project after project, client after client, to become an important player providing furnishings for various industries, from boutiques to shopping centres and large office spaces. Ellevi entered the cruise ship refurbishing field in the mid-1980s, an essential step that led it to become the international pioneer and leader it is today.

We optimise timelines and resources without sacrificing quality, consistently bringing Italian craftsmanship and taste to each project, from cabins to public spaces.

Starting from our headquarters in Nova Milanese, we've worked all around the globe, designing and successfully completing logistically challenging projects. Today, in addition to our main offices in Nova Milanese, we have branches in Miami and London, two of the world's most important international business hubs. And of course, we work with people, equipment, knowledge, resources and technology just about everywhere.

Over the past few decades, we've continued to innovate in terms of means and methods, growing and evolving along with the market. This 40-year journey has provided us with the organisational abilities, skills and contacts to successfully address the complex challenges of today and tomorrow.

II Company mission

We believe that the client won't be satisfied until the end user is satisfied.

For this reason, our mission isn't limited to the usual deadlines and budget constraints, which are of course a priority to us.

As we work, we never forget that the end user is at the heart of every project, and that quality can never come in second place. At Ellevi, that means durable, long-lasting materials, quality as perceived value and, last but not least, quality understood as beauty.

As we plan the décor of each room, we ask ourselves how we would ideally use it. It's the only way to truly add value, going above and beyond the needs of our clientele.

Expertise

Our clients trust us from A to Z because we manage projects from A to Z.

Large-scale projects are often too complex to divide up while ensuring excellent results.

This is precisely why Ellevi offers turnkey solutions for all fit-out and refurbishing projects. From in-house manufacturing to a network of specialised suppliers, even covering electrical and plumbing systems, up to maintenance of the finished product, we manage and oversee each phase of the process.

Our start-to-finish approach guarantees the success of our clients' projects.

"High-quality turnkey refurbishing projects."

IV Engineering & design

We work alongside architects to turn creativity into reality.

We work side-by-side with architects and project managers to optimise each project, ensuring the highest quality in terms of execution, budget compliance and deadlines.

Many of our production processes take place in-house. This means we control all manufacturing phases, making us more flexible and responsive.

Our exclusive know-how makes it possible to combine cutting-edge industrial innovation with the craftsmanship and attention to detail that special projects require.

We are equipped with the most advanced technological resources used in the carpentry industry today. In addition, our products adhere to CE standards (safety, energy efficiency, etc.) and meet the complex, specific needs of our clients.

All while maintaining the attention to detail that Made in Italy products are known for around the globe.

V Manufacturing facilities

We directly control each aspect of the manufacturing process to ensure the quality of the finished product.

We're well-versed in the important role that warehouse and distribution logistics play in the industry. It's no accident that our headquarters, the heart of the company, is adjacent to our 10,000 m<sup>2</sup> warehouse.

To stay competitive in the marine industry (on dry docks and especially while in service), we've had to reinvent logistics from scratch, ensuring that deliveries coincide perfectly with vessels as they travel the globe. This means guaranteeing the availability of materials and managing projects in different countries so that deadlines are met, no matter where the ship is on that date. With so much at stake, mistakes simply are not an option.

It's a demanding but exciting road to take, one which has made sure we're always prepared, ready for the most difficult logistical challenges that come our way.

VI Logistics

We're maestros of logistics at sea.
And on land.

VII

Cutting-edge project management

Many aim to manage each day.
We manage each minute.

At Ellevi, project management is understood as the fusion of knowledge, ability, tools and techniques to meticulously plan each phase of a given project.

To us, constant communication and coordination with the client and all other professionals involved is essential.

So, we've developed special proprietary solutions in collaboration with the Project Management Institute and the American Production and Inventory Control Society to remotely manage and oversee even the smallest details, in real time.

We make use of platforms dedicated to client, ship and order management, and we've equipped our experts out in the field with tools that speed up the measurement phase by directly exchanging information with Ellevi headquarters. In addition, we're able to constantly monitor each part of a project to dynamically allocate the required resources.

This advanced degree of automation makes it possible to offer our clients the peace of mind that comes from an always-active monitoring console. Verification of the work in progress is just a click away, ensuring it's on track with established objectives.

VIII Spaces

There isn't a room on the ship that can't be both beautiful and comfortable.

Ellevi thrives at the cutting edge of the marine refurbishing industry, a field defined by extremely complex logistical and organisational challenges.

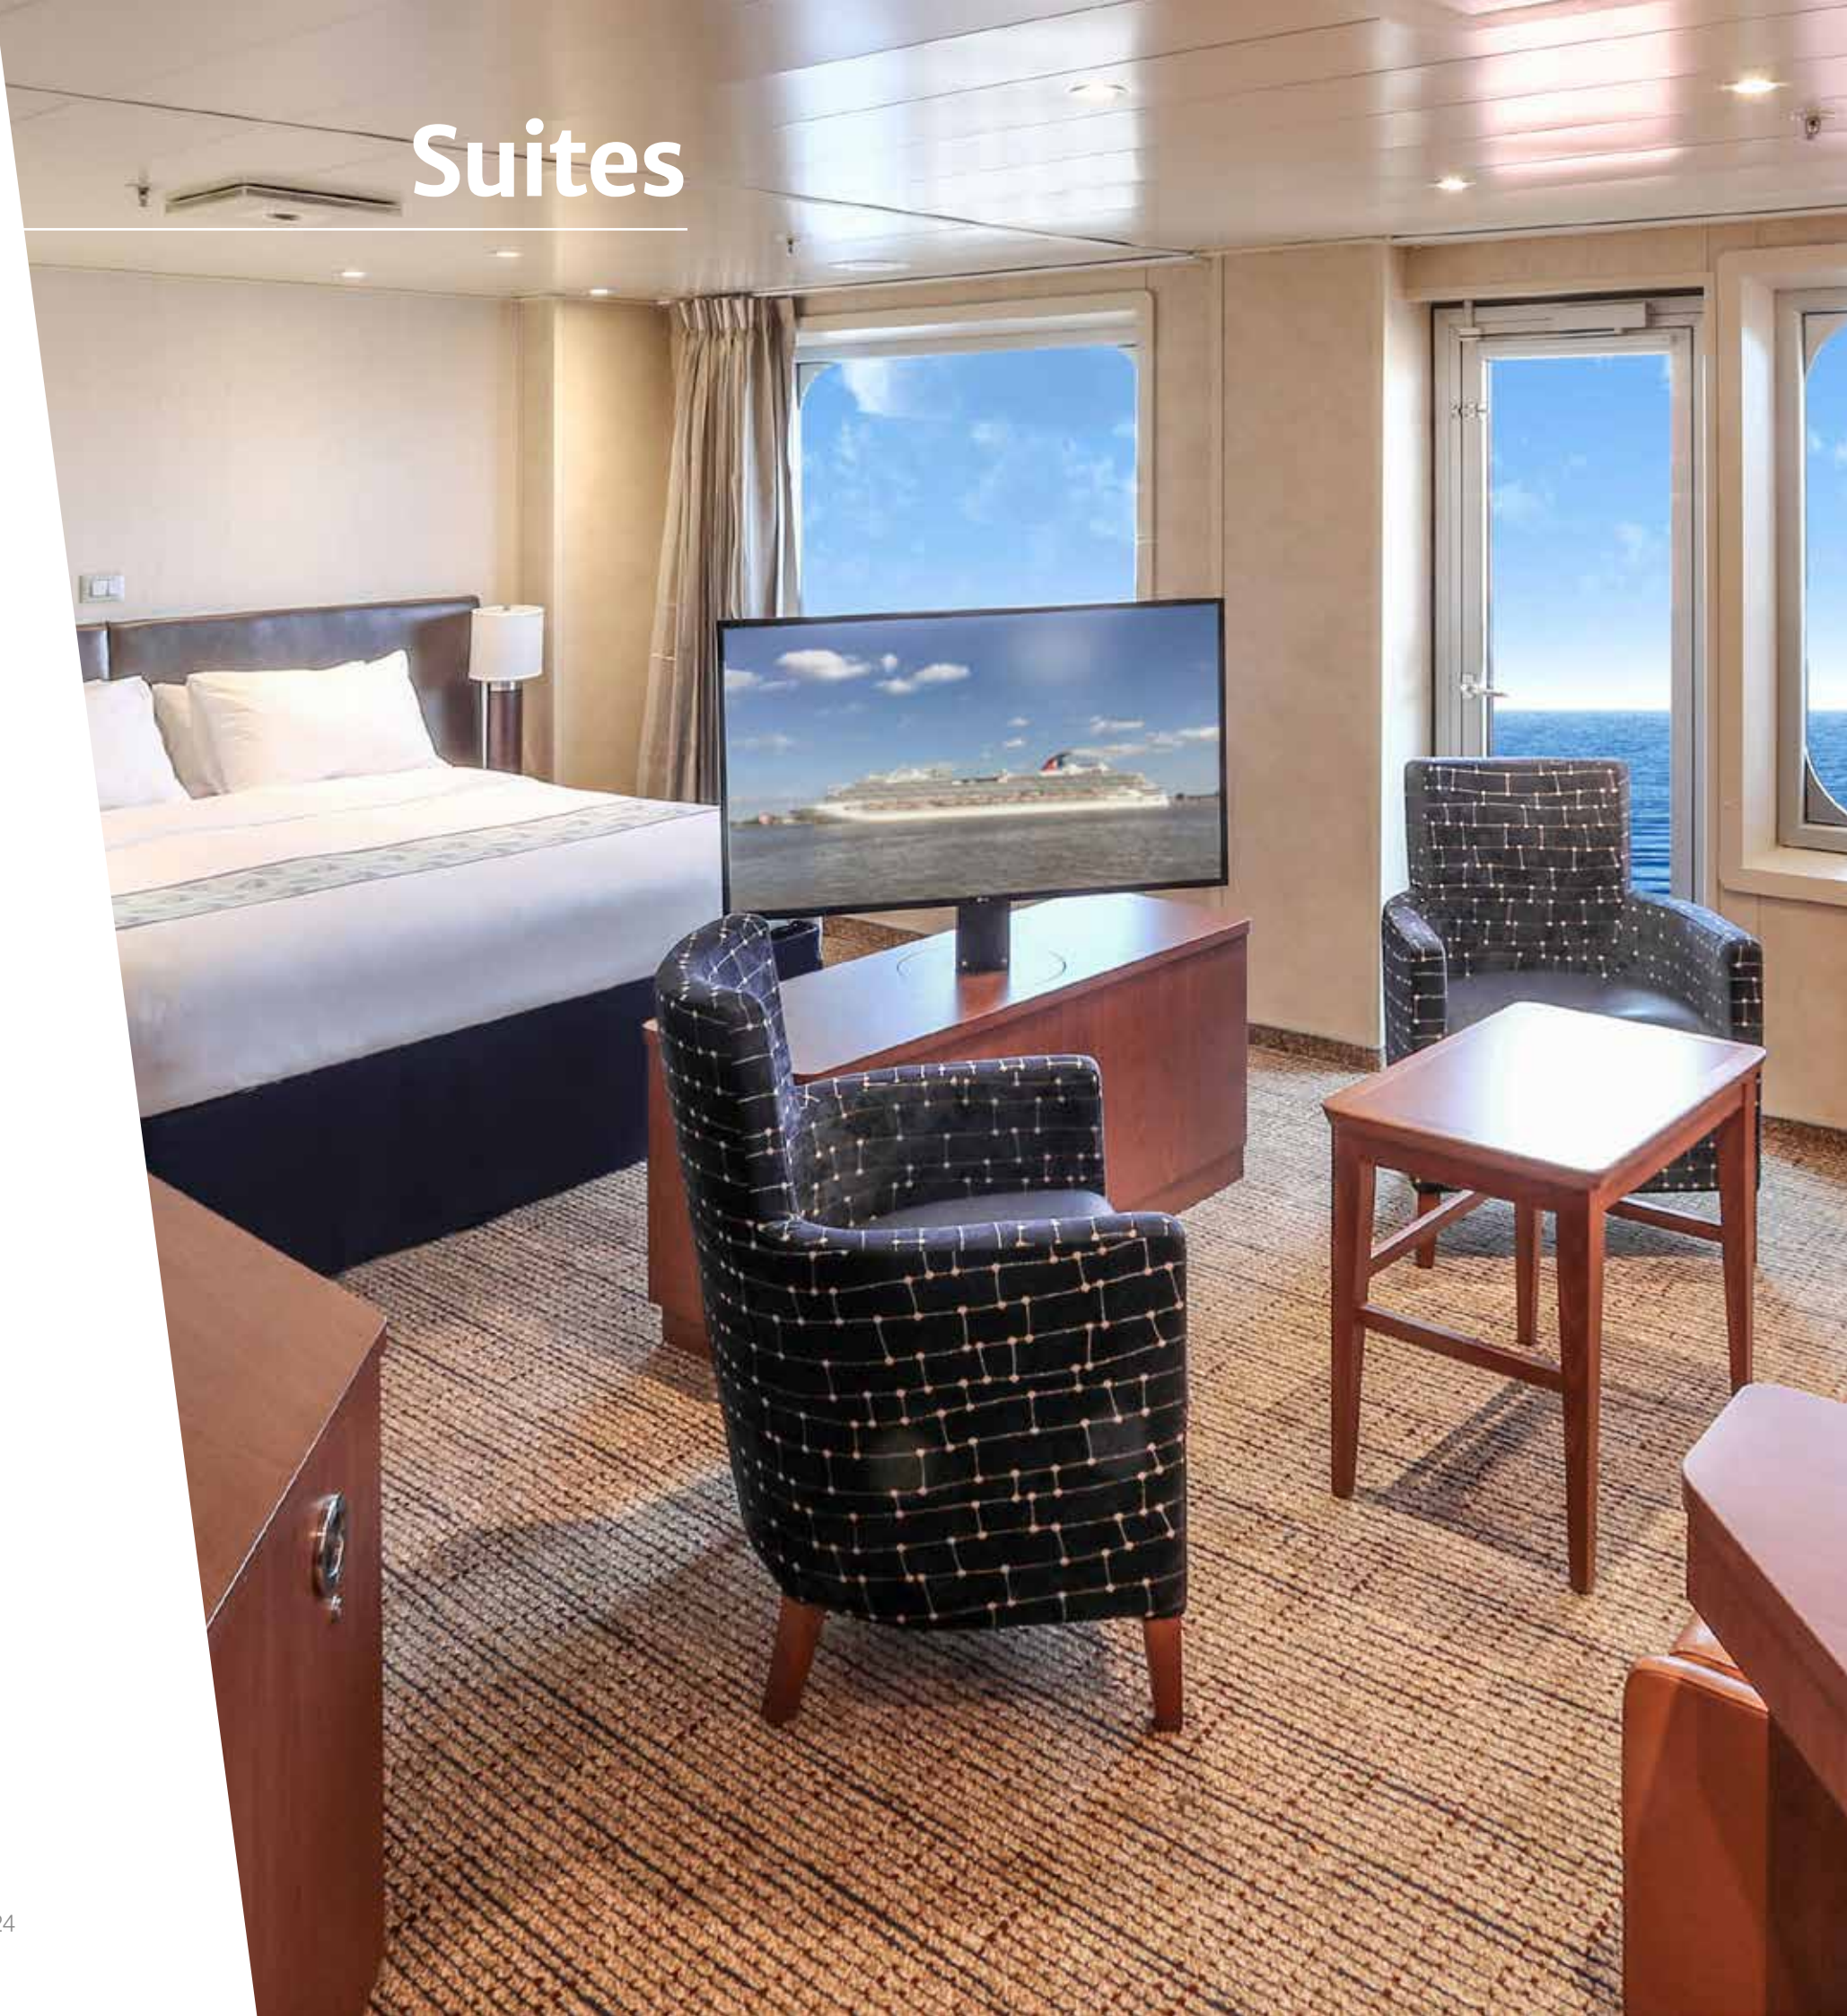

Our decades of experience are crucial, especially in situations that require absolute quality, elegance, flexibility and responsiveness. From cabins to restaurants, entertainment halls and lounges for passengers and the crew, Ellevi's expertise will improve any space on the ship, adding a unique, refined, entirely Italian touch.
