M/U: weaving innovation and heritage together elegant tapestries and textiles fire-resistant fabrics

sound-absorbing, thermo-acoustic panels

Since 1981, Italian workshop Mariantonia Urru has been creating textiles with striking patterns, many passed down for generations. M/U calls Samugheo, a village in the heart of Sardinia, home. This area is famous for its living tradition of textile manufacturing, characterized by an ancient symbolic language and traditional loom techniques.

Each M/U piece is created using these exclusive Sardinian techniques, including some that were almost forgotten. While rediscovering tradition, the brand constantly focuses on reinventing the ancient art of making fabric with an innovative, modern approach.

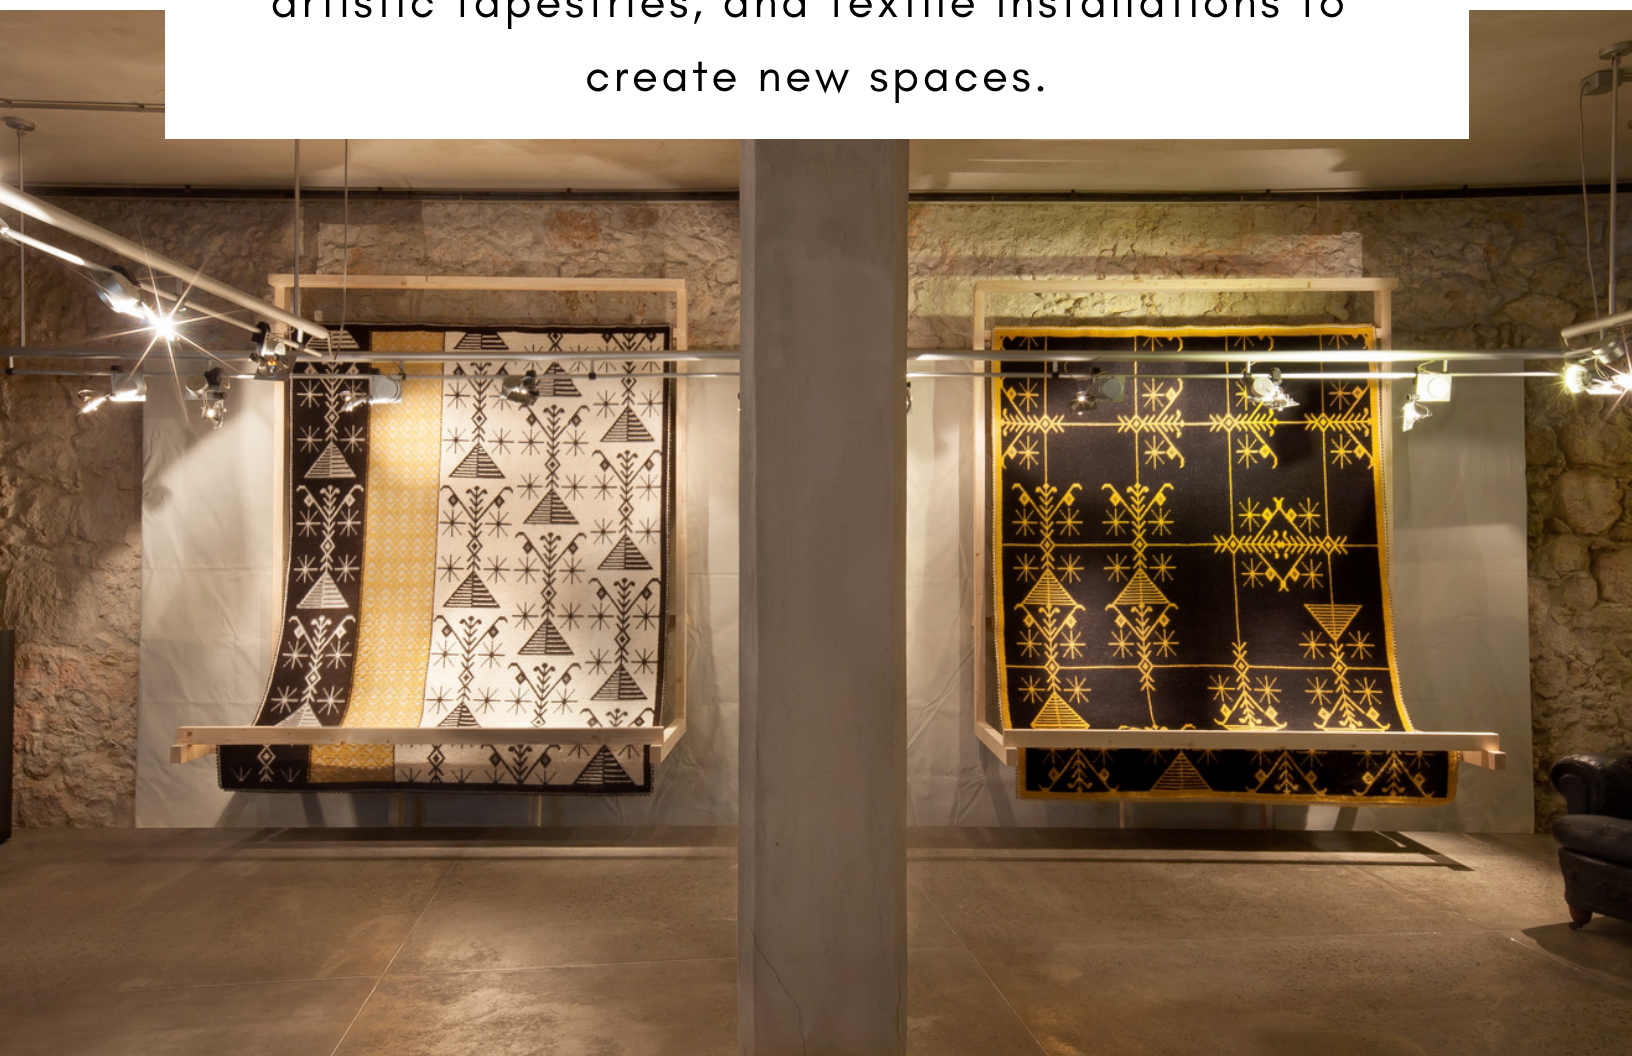

Tapestries and Wall Textiles

We collaborate with many talented artists and designers to create one-of-a-kind wall textiles. Each piece provides an interpretation of heritage - a new telling of the themes, symbols, and ideas held dear by the local Sardinian community. These elements of tradition are expertly woven into every combination of material, color, and design to create tapestries and wall textiles that respect the past while looking to the future.

M/U specializes in functional wall coverings, artistic tapestries, and textile installations to create new spaces.

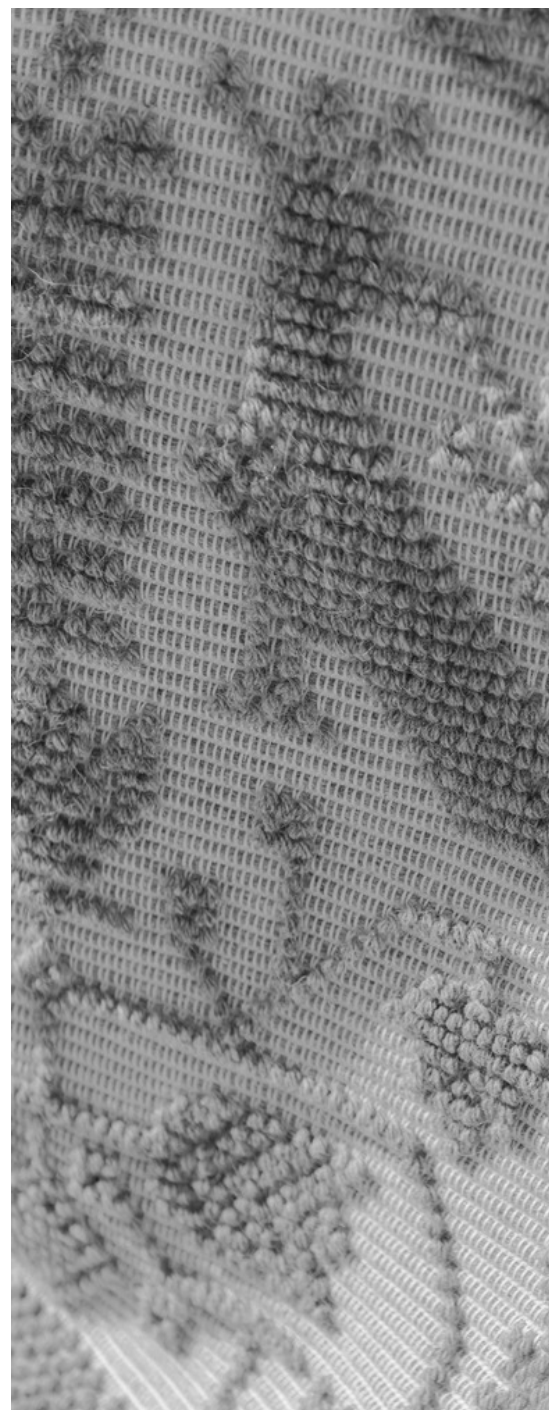

Unique by Design

Each design and color palette tells a distinct story.

Further, due to variations in thread production and
weave, no two pieces
are exactly alike.

Every M/U piece is unique.

Stories of land and heritage, told through innovation and beautiful textile design.
