PHILOSOPHY CERESTER

The winery, located in San Miniato, in the heart of Tuscany, between two of the most significant historical centers of the region, Pisa and Florence, remains deeply linked to the culture of its land and to the food and wine education that constitutes a fundamental step for the production of the company.

Every day CERESTER, specialized in the export of bottled Italian wines all over the world, is committed in making wine a real way of being, applying all the actual knowledge in the oenological field and using an expert and competent staff always present in winery, so that it is always possible to give an added value to a product that is not only technically adequate but witness of the prestige of the Italian tradition in the world.

CERESTER was founded in 1994, from the experience of 3 generations who have been able to transmit year after year all the tradition and knowledge in the wine field as well as the passion for good wine.

OUR FOUNDER

Throughout his whole life, David Volterrani has always been in contact with wine. He attended an economics-focused high school, and had his first hands-on experience in his father's winery.

Before starting Cerester, he travelled to Australia and New Zealand where he took part to two different harvests. But he never really stopped travelling attending wine fairs and relate events all around the world.

In 1994 David decided to make a bold move founding Cerester, his own business. In the beginning the winery was producing essentially bulk wines but in the last few years, Cerester has switched to bottling creating brands that have been successful all around the world.

«THROUGHOUT HIS WHOLE
LIFE, DAVID VOLTERRANI
HAS ALWAYS BEEN IN CONTACT WITH WINE.»
