khrysós

Helichrysum, the scent of Sardinia.

In Sardinia Helichrysum paints arid zones with its golden yellow and it spreads in the air its unique and intense fragrance.

Helichrysum extract treats impure and acneic skins, it is a very good antibacterial, an excellent anti-inflammatory, decongestant, and healing, it has antioxidant efficacy thanks to the flavonoids which fight the action of free radicals, preventing cutaneous aging.

Thanks to the decongestant, softening, calming and photoprotective actions, it is effective in the treatment of couperose-prone skin and sunburns.

Strawberry tree,
a blaze of color.

The Strawberry tree dominates the Sardinian Mediterranean scrub with its colors: the green of its leaves, the white of its flowers and the red of its fruits.

The leaves contain tannins, resins, gums, and Arbutin, used in cosmetic formulations for its skin-depigmenting and brightening activities and its ability of evening out the skin tone.

The fruits instead contain, beyond arbutin, a good amount of polysaccharides, pectins, flavonoids and vitamin E. These components represent fundamental protective factors against oxidative events that occur in the phospholipids of cellular membranes.
