Italian Pasta

Why is it so special?

There are a lot of artisan pasta manufacturers that try to maintain their uniqueness, high quality and local tradition in proudly doing their every day job with passion and hard work.

Their activities not only have the aim of producing good pasta, but also of maintaining and preserving nature with good agricultural practice, respecting human labour, and keeping life and activities in small villages.

Every region, every town in Italy has its own kind of food, of bread, of cheese and also of pasta.

The Origin

The greatest wheat

We are honest with you, because we realized that pasta distribution outside Italy shows two problems:

1 - The Italian pasta is either very low quality, with unknown origin and standardised flavour

2 - Or, the Italian pasta is a market niche even of high quality but with a lack of selection and difficult availability

High costs don't always mean best quality, that's why we decided to create the platform Finestpasta.com, it combines three of the most important features of products:

Great quality, great selection and widespread distribution.
