Cellulite cosmetic treatment

In-cab cosmetic cellulite treatment is a specialized service offered in health clubs and spas, designed to visibly reduce the appearance of cellulite and improve skin texture.

This targeted treatment involves the application of specific cosmetic products to the affected area, accompanied by targeted massage techniques.

The active ingredients present in the products are selected to promote the drainage of toxins, improve microcirculation and increase the elasticity of the skin.

The final goal is to obtain more toned, smoother skin and reduce the visibility of cellulite, offering an experience of well-being and aesthetic improvement.

Body peeling

The in-cabin micronized exfoliant cosmetic treatment is a beauty experience designed to revitalize the skin through deep and targeted exfoliation.

During this treatment, a high-quality micronized exfoliant is applied to the skin, helping to remove dead cells and improve skin texture.

The micronized exfoliant acts delicately on the skin, stimulating cell regeneration.

This process promotes the renewal of the skin, making it brighter, smoother and ready to better absorb subsequent treatments.

The massage during the application of the exfoliant helps to stimulate blood circulation, promoting muscle relaxation and giving a pleasant sensation of well-being.

Once the treatment is completed, the skin will appear radiant, fresh and visibly younger, giving a sensation of renewal and care.

Cosmetic stretch mark treatment

The in-cabin cosmetic treatment for stretch marks is a service dedicated to improving the appearance of stretch marks on the skin, offering a targeted experience of renewal and hydration. During this treatment, specific products designed to reduce the visibility of stretch marks and promote skin regeneration are used.

The process begins with the application of a specific product to the affected area, formulated with ingredients that promote deep hydration and stimulation of the skin's healing process.

This is accompanied by a gentle massage to improve product absorption and stimulate blood circulation.

Carefully selected ingredients work to improve skin elasticity, reduce texture unevenness and give a more uniform appearance. The treatment aims to deeply hydrate the skin, helping to make it more elastic and reducing the visibility of stretch marks over time.

At the end of the treatment, the skin appears more toned, hydrated and luminous, offering a feeling of well-being and revitalization.

Rebalancing body treatment

The rebalancing body treatment in the cabin is an experience dedicated to restoring skin balance and total body relaxation. This treatment aims to promote physical and mental well-being through the use of products specially formulated to nourish, hydrate and rebalance the skin.

The process begins with the application of specific products, enriched with natural and nourishing ingredients, which promote deep hydration and skin regeneration. These products can be selected based on your specific skin needs and personal preferences.

The treatment includes a relaxing massage, which not only improves the absorption of the products but also helps to relax the muscles, relieve stress and promote a feeling of tranquility.

Carefully chosen ingredients work in synergy to rebalance the skin, providing nourishment and restoring its vitality. At the end of the treatment, you can expect more hydrated, toned and radiant skin, accompanied by a pleasant sensation of relaxation and global rebalancing. The rebalancing body treatment is designed to pamper the body and mind, offering a complete wellness experience.

Relaxing body massage

The relaxing body massage with only massage oil is a treatment dedicated to promoting total relaxation and well-being through the use of specific oils and relaxing massage techniques.

This treatment aims to release muscle tension, reduce stress and promote a deep feeling of calm and tranquility. The massage begins with the application of a light, silky massage oil, chosen for its hydrating and nourishing properties. The oil is gently massaged into the skin, helping to improve the smoothness of the hands and create a pleasant sensory experience.

The therapist uses slow and relaxing massage techniques, focusing attention on areas of tension and promoting muscle relaxation. The treatment can be customized to the client's preferences, focusing on specific areas of the body or following a complete sequence for total relaxation.

The massage oil, enriched with ingredients that nourish the skin, helps improve hydration and skin texture. At the end of the treatment, you can expect a feeling of lightness, calm and relaxation, with your skin nourished and your mind free from stress and tension. The relaxing body massage with only massage oil is an indulgent experience dedicated to complete well-being.

Rebalancing cleansing

The rebalancing cleansing treatment in the cabin is an experience dedicated to restoring the balance of the skin through deep and targeted cleansing. This treatment focuses on removing impurities from the skin, while simultaneously offering balancing benefits to improve skin tone and vitality.

The process begins with cleansing the skin using specific products formulated for deep but gentle cleansing. These products contain balancing ingredients that help remove excess sebum, impurities and dead cells, preparing the skin for the next steps.

The treatment includes the application of specific products to rebalance the skin's pH and maintain its optimal state. Carefully selected ingredients work to rebalance the skin, maintaining its natural hydration and promoting a healthier, more radiant appearance.

At the end of the treatment, you can expect clean, fresh and balanced skin, with a feeling of clarity and lightness. The rebalancing cleansing treatment is designed to give the skin a clean and healthy appearance, while promoting an overall feeling of balance.

Nourishing cleansing

The in-cabin nourishing facial cleansing treatment is a gentle, revitalizing experience designed to purify the skin while deeply nourishing it. This treatment aims to gently remove impurities, excess sebum and make-up, while simultaneously offering a supply of essential nutrients to improve the skin's luminosity and elasticity. The process begins with the application of a delicate but effective face and body cleansing emulsion. This product, enriched with nourishing ingredients, cleanses the skin without compromising its natural barrier, preparing it for the following steps.

Next, facial micellar water is applied to complete the cleansing process and prepare the skin to receive further treatments. The nourishing ingredients present in micellar water help hydrate and soothe the skin.

At the end of the treatment, you can expect clean, fresh and nourished skin, with a feeling of comfort and hydration. The nourishing facial cleansing treatment is designed to offer a moment of relaxation and care, leaving the skin visibly radiant and renewed.

Hydration for dry/normal skin

The in-cabin hydration treatment for dry/normal skin is an experience designed to restore the skin's moisture balance and give it a radiant, well-groomed appearance.

This treatment is designed to meet the specific needs of dry and normal skin, providing intensive hydration and immediate relief.

The process begins with the application of products rich in hydrating and nourishing ingredients on the skin. These products are formulated to penetrate deeply, restoring the skin barrier and providing the ideal level of hydration. The treatment includes a relaxing massage to promote circulation and maximize the benefits of hydration. The products used may contain ingredients such as hyaluronic acid and nourishing oils to keep the skin supple and glowing.

At the end of the treatment, the skin appears noticeably more hydrated, soft and luminous. Deep hydration helps mitigate skin dryness and improve skin texture. The Hydration Treatment for Dry/Normal Skin is designed to offer a solution targeted to the specific needs of those who want well-hydrated, healthy-looking skin.

Face and lip peeling

The facial and lip treatment with peeling in the cabin is an experience dedicated to the renewal and luminosity of the skin of the face and lips. This treatment aims to gently exfoliate the skin, removing dead cells and improving texture, for a fresher, more radiant appearance.

The process begins with the application of a gentle peeling on the face and lips. This peeling is formulated with micronized exfoliating particles, which act delicately but effectively to remove surface impurities and promote cell regeneration.

After application, the peel is massaged into the skin to further improve the exfoliating effect and stimulate blood circulation, thus helping to achieve a brighter and more even complexion.

Treatment may include deep hydration with specific products for the face and lips, selected to soothe and nourish freshly exfoliated skin. At the end of the treatment, you can expect visibly more radiant, smoother and hydrated skin, while lips will appear softer and smoother. The face and lip peeling treatment is designed to give a fresh and youthful appearance to the skin of the face and lips.

Hydration for mixed/oily skin

The in-cabin hydration treatment for combination/oily skin is a service designed to provide the right balance of hydration without increasing sebum production. This treatment aims to reduce oiliness and keep the skin hydrated, promoting a balanced and healthy complexion.

The process begins with delicate cleansing of the skin using specific products for combination/oily skin, effectively removing excess sebum without compromising natural hydration. Next, a light hydrating essence or mask is applied, formulated to provide hydration without weighing down the skin.

The treatment includes the application of a moisturizer specifically designed for combination/oily skin. These products are often enriched with lightweight, non-comedogenic hydrating ingredients, which help keep skin soft and hydrated without contributing to excessive sebum production.

During the treatment, a short massage session is included to promote circulation and improve the absorption of the products. At the end, the skin appears hydrated, balanced and free of excess oiliness, creating a fresh and radiant appearance. The hydration treatment for combination/oily skin is designed to offer comfort and nourishment without compromising the skin's natural sebaceous regulation.

ANTI-AGE PHASE 1: 25-35 years

Phase 1 anti-aging treatment for ages 25 to 35 in the cabin is designed to preserve the youth of the skin and prevent premature signs of aging.

This experience aims to maintain the elasticity and luminosity of the skin, focusing on specific ingredients and treatments suitable for this age group.

The procedure begins with a deep cleansing to prepare the skin for optimal absorption of subsequent treatments. Next, a lightweight anti-aging facial serum formulated to nourish the skin and prevent premature wrinkle formation is applied. This step can be accompanied by a gentle massage to stimulate circulation and relax facial muscles.

The application of a light anti-aging face cream follows the serum, focusing on ingredients that support cell regeneration and maintain optimal hydration. The treatment may also include a specific serum for the eye contour and décolleté to preserve the youth of these delicate areas.

Anti-Aging Phase 1 is designed to offer preventative protection against the signs of aging, keeping skin young, glowing and hydrated. At the end of the treatment, you can expect a feeling of freshness and visibly nourished skin, helping to preserve the youthfulness of your skin.

ANTI-AGE PHASE 2: 35-50 years

The Phase 2 anti-aging treatment, dedicated to people aged 35 to 50, is designed to counteract the signs of aging and preserve the youthfulness of the skin. This targeted treatment uses specific products formulated to provide deep hydration, stimulate collagen production and reduce the appearance of first wrinkles.

The treatment begins with rebalancing cleansing and the application of targeted anti-aging products, enriched with powerful antioxidant and nourishing ingredients. These help protect the skin from damage caused by free radicals, promoting cell regeneration and improving skin elasticity.

A specific massage is performed to promote muscle relaxation and stimulate blood circulation, thus contributing to greater effectiveness of the treatment.

Phase 2 anti-aging treatment for this age group is designed to improve skin texture, minimize the appearance of first wrinkles and preserve youth. At the end of the treatment, you can expect more radiant, toned and protected skin against the premature signs of aging, giving you a younger and fresher appearance.

ANTI-AGE PHASE 2: 35-50 years

During this phase of the intensive anti-aging treatment, products formulated to stimulate skin regeneration and address the typical challenges associated with ages between 35 and 55 are used.

The Intensive Anti-Age Treatment for the 35-55 age group is a path dedicated to counteracting the signs of aging and promoting the vitality of the skin.

A regenerating massage with Facial Oil helps to revitalize the skin, while the application of the Face and Décolleté Serum completes the treatment, offering an intense anti-aging action for smoother, toned and luminous skin. This treatment is a Luxurious and targeted experience to maintain radiant and youthful skin.
