COKIBARBIERI.IT

COKI is an Italian-based home decor brand, founded in 2017 by architectural and product designer Coki Barbieri (she/her). Aesthetic and functionality are combined with the desire to narrate the natural materials characteristics and sustainable production cycles, also combining raw elements in an unprecedented way. The precious objects collection is made in Italy by the local craftsmen with the aim to expand a new slow living awareness and a new regenerative approach to resources and traditional manufacturing.

APPROACH

Coki Barbieri uses notions of geology, chemistry and design culture to create new products (and materials) from fragments and waste from natural products (such as stone and minerals). COKI brand harness as possible the power of natural elements such as sun, water and air to craft. Under this vision, nature dictates new production and consumption rhythms. In particular, the materials that make up the products are created as much as possible by hand, with “cold” procedures and dried in the sun to compensate as much as possible the CO2 emissions due to the production of borosilicate glass (an high quality material chosen for its extreme hygiene, possibility of cleaning, durability and non-toxicity). Each product can be divided into several parts, according to the materials that compose it and this allows us to always offer the repair of the single component, the replacement or a second life to the material (reuse or recycling).
