Marioni

Creating objects in Florence is an ancient art that has its roots in the Renaissance.

Established in 1966, from the great intuition of the founder Paolo Marioni in a few years the company makes its rapid transformation from small artisan workshop in to a solid enterprise.

Strongly characterized in the familiar sense, despite the current size, Marioni of those origins retains a sense of belonging with the dedication and commitment arising there; from Tuscany, land of origin, the typical innate creativity. Production and a name that invite to new, fascinating dimensions of the today living. Proposals for unique objects for creativity, manual skill, particular designs.

Studio 63

Listening, new stories, not serial languages, a planning tailoring which aims to build an identity without imposing its own sign.

This is the philosophy of Studio 63, the study of architecture and design, with a background that ranges from architecture to interior design, from product design, especially in the fashion retail and hospitality, to art direction and design consulting for furniture and fashion companies.

MARIONI's character and style are permeated by contemporary values that merge past, present and future in a timeless design. Now that a good percentage of the work world is based on custom-made products or contracts, only well prepared companies able to react effectively and promptly will remain on the market. Our Contract Dept. is very active and cooperates successfully with an increasing number of interior designers and architects for the development of articles that particularly suit for the renovation of hotels all over the world.

Through its collection MARIONI wants to give an even greater value to high quality craftsmanship and top level production conveying an atmosphere that totally express the “Italian lifestyle”.
