Planbio Cosmetics is an Italian innovative Start-up, made up of pharmacists, cosmetologists and university professors.

We have created and tested a cosmetic extract of pomace, which immediately showed an amazing beneficial activity on the skin.

On this basis we thought of a brand, UVIA from the Italian name of the grape, which could contain our philosophy, our passion, our products.

The idea behind the project, which then obtained funding from the European Community, was to create a line of innovative and high-performance natural cosmetics deriving from the circular economy.

UVIA products are 100% MADE IN ITALY and the result of careful research, which respect fundamental values such as respect of people and of nature and we welcome all those who want to embrace our philosophy.

Our team is a mix of youth and experience and it is thanks to this melting pot that we can look to the future with solid basis.
