WINERY PROFILE

Cantina della Volta was founded in 2010 in Bomporto, near Modena, carrying forward a family winemaking tradition that began in 1920. Our distinctive identity is built around Lambrusco di Sorbara, one of the most delicate and elegant varieties of the Lambrusco family. Naturally high in acidity, Sorbara has extraordinary potential for the Traditional Method, revealing finesse, freshness and complexity that often surprise those who know Lambrusco only in its more familiar expressions.

We produce sparkling wines exclusively through second fermentation in the bottle, with long ageing on the lees and a strong focus on precision and craftsmanship. Alongside Sorbara, we cultivate Pinot Noir and Chardonnay in our hillside vineyards in the Modenese Apennines. Thanks to their freshness, balance and versatility, our wines are especially suited to fine dining and contemporary cuisine. Our ambition is to show that Lambrusco di Sorbara can stand among Italy's most distinctive Traditional Method sparkling wines.

WINERY PROFILE

Collemattoni takes its name from the farmhouse, which, over time, has become the trademark of our winery and of our wines.

Collemattoni is located on a hill top on the south side of the municipal area of Montalcino, just a short distance from the village of Sant'Angelo in Colle. The Collemattoni farmhouse dates back to the end of the XVII century. The estate was part of the church till middle of '80s (1980) when Marcello's father (Adon Bucci) bought it. Bucci family started with less than 1 hectar of vineyard and the first Collemattoni Brunello di Montalcino was the 1989 vintage (released in January 1994). Step by step, Marcello with the support of his father and all family, took care of the estate, increasing also the qt of hectares.

The Collemattoni winery currently features around 12 hectares of vineyards, mostly Sangiovese, in 6 different areas in the central part, south west and south east of Montalcino community.

The winemaking philosophy allows for technology but in a style that comes from belonging to the place and respect for the area.

WINERY PROFILE

In 1979, the Schwarz family, originally from South Tyrol, acquired La Magia estate. At just over twenty, Harald Schwarz had no background in wine or viticulture. A former Formula 3 driver, he discovered La Magia almost by chance and was immediately captivated by its beauty. He returned to South Tyrol, persuaded his family to sell their Alfa Romeo dealership in Merano, and embarked on an entirely new life in Montalcino.

At the time, Brunello di Montalcino was still a small, largely local production, far from the international recognition it enjoys today.

Set on a hill overlooking the breathtaking Val d'Orcia, La Magia gradually became the Schwarz family's home and passion. Since 2011, Harald's son Fabian, the first in the family to study oenology, has led the estate together with his wife, Bianca. Together, they combine organic farming, deep respect for the land, technical expertise and a forward-looking vision.

WINERY PROFILE

Founded in 1821 in the heart of Apulia, Tenuta Patruno Perniola is a family-run, organically certified estate where the passion for winemaking has been passed down through 7 generations.

Our vineyards are dedicated to Primitivo di Gioia del Colle, cultivated in the historic homeland of the Primitivo grape. Four distinct Primitivo vineyards, each with its own character and identity, give life to four single-vineyard wines, expressing the unique qualities of their respective plots.

Among them is an extraordinary 80-year-old vineyard, a living testament to our winemaking heritage. Another vineyard is home to all 16 existing Primitivo clones, planted together to explore and celebrate the remarkable diversity of this iconic grape variety.

Rooted in traditional farming practices and a deep respect for the land, we carefully select our grapes and adopt gentle, non-invasive cellar practices to preserve the natural character of the fruit. The result is a collection of elegant, expressive wines, each reflecting the unique character of its vineyard and vintage.

Beekeeping, rich biodiversity, and environmentally conscious production methods are an integral part of our commitment to protecting the land and its future.
