Cargo Leaves Yantai Port On New Multimodal Route From Rok To Kyrgyzstan
A freight train carrying commercial vehicles and auto parts departed Yantai Port on Tuesday, launching a multimodal route from Incheon, the Republic of Korea, to Bishkek, Kyrgyzstan. Cargo goes by sea to Yantai, rail to Kashgar, and customs-supervised trucks onward. The full sea-rail-road trip takes about 12 days - five days less than conventional shipping - creating a faster trade link for ROK auto goods into Central Asia. (China Daily)

Container Port In Xiamen Model For Automated Operations
Xiamen Ocean Gate, the world’s first 4th-gen automated container terminal with full Chinese independent IP, opened in 2016. Its unmanned operation cuts frontline staff by 70% and lifts efficiency by 20%. It rolled out nationwide first full-scenario 5th-Generation Mobile Communication Technology (5G), cost-saving unmanned trucks and zero-kilometer sea-rail transport, with an annual designed throughput of 300,000 TEUs. (China Daily)
