Week of Italian Cuisine in the World

Italian cooking, UNESCO Heritage: territories and value chains of excellence

The Week of Italian Cuisine in the World is the longest-running integrated promotional initiative of the Italian Ministry of Foreign Affairs and International Cooperation (MAECI), organized in close coordination also with the Italian Trade Agency (ICE) and other institutional stakeholders. Now in its eleventh edition, the initiative aims to enhance Italy's agrifood heritage abroad, one of the most significant sectors of Italian exports. The 2026 theme, "Italian cooking, UNESCO Heritage: territories and value chains of excellence", celebrates the historic recognition granted in New Delhi in December 2025.

The UNESCO inscription makes Italian cooking the first in the world to be recognized as intangible cultural heritage in its entirety: a living tradition reflecting the bond between natural landscapes and local communities, while embodying memory, daily life, and the unique culture of its territories

Through events, partnerships and promotional initiatives worldwide, the Week of Italian Cuisine in the World showcases the richness and contemporary relevance of Italian food, a symbol of tradition, research and creativity.

The Art of Distillation Since 1892

Since 1892, Andrea Da Ponte has been creating exceptional grappas and spirits, combining a passion for tradition, craftsmanship and innovation. Every bottle reflects the authentic character of our land and over a century of experience. Our distillery is located in Corbanese di Tarzo, in the heart of the beautiful Conegliano Valdobbiadene hills, home to the famous Prosecco Superiore DOCG. Our story is one of passion, dedication and innovation, shaped by remarkable people such as Matteo Da Ponte, who published his scientifically documented distillation method in 1896, and Pier Liberale Fabris, Andrea's grandson, who created the first aged grappa made from Prosecco grape pomace. Today, this heritage lives on through our "5 Eccellenze" collection: Vecchia Grappa di Prosecco 8 Annate, Grappa Unica Da Ponte Millesimata 10 Anni, Uve Bianche from Malvasia and Chardonnay, Uve Bianche Gran Riserva, and Uve Bianche Fior d'Arancio from Moscato Giallo. Five unique products that celebrate the quality, character and excellence of Italian distillation.

A heritage of excellence

Our distillery can claim a history spanning more than 175 years and is still guided today by the direct descendants of its founders. It produces around 150,000 bottles per year, divided between grappa and liqueurs, distributed both in Italy and abroad. Arturo and Nicola Rossi, the fifth and sixth generations, now lead the company with the aim of preserving the history, tradition, and quality that have always defined Rossi d'Angera's products. The methods applied are the traditional and natural ones, the recipes, just Partially varied, basically remained unchanged throughout the years to grant quality and tradition: features that mark the character of the company. The range of products has become wider in order to better meet the needs of the market. Beside the more traditional grappas, gins and liqueurs, today the distillery offers pre-mixed and more innovative products, aiming at international targets. Our daily commitment is to convey the long heritage of excellence embodied in every one of our products. The careful selection of raw materials, the natural character of our products, and the respect for ancient recipes and traditional distillation methods are fundamental to us in ensuring the quality of our bottles.
